

Leading Designers of Long Island

The Art of Feel-Good Beauty

She gets inspired by beautiful Calcutta marble and bold, modern colors, holds extensive experience in interior design, real estate, materials and methods construction, importing, exporting and furnishings, and has a team of fellow designers, project managers and architects who bring a robust definition to full-service design. But if you want to describe a space designed by Roxane Mosleh, you might find yourself a little speechless, convinced that she's found a way to get inside your head and tap into every design dream you ever had.

With an all-hands-on-deck approach to each project, Roxane remains actively involved in every project and relies on her team's diverse skill sets to help clients achieve their dream spaces. Known for her ability to transform a space and increase a property's value, whether the client is looking to stage or flip a property for investment purposes, she's inspired by color, modern design and art history.

"People's needs and the way they live inspire me," she says. "Executing a space that moves them is when I know I've done my job well."
